

Appendix 1

to the Policies for Protection Against Sexualized Discrimination and Violence

Contacts and Counseling Sources for Incidents of Sexualized Discrimination and Violence

The University of Bonn endeavors to empower all students, faculty and staff to enjoy a discrimination-free workplace characterized by equality and mutual respect and trust. The University is committed to enacting policies that afford effective protection against sexualized discrimination and violence. Permitting sexualized discrimination and violence allows intimidation, which degrades our research, study and work environments, causing significant stress. Acts of such a nature are gravely disruptive to University operations, in breach of civil service and regular employment contract provisions and legal obligations as an institution of higher education. Therefore such acts will be pursued accordingly.

The primary University-internal and external contact points for staff and students to turn to for advice and counseling are listed on the pages following. This list is not exhaustive.
